Bethel, the Welsh. Chapel, Talbot St., Dublin 1.

We had a successful campaign to have this historic building placed on Dublin City Council's Protected Structure list. We then raised funds to have a commemorative plaque made. Unfortunately, the building is in some disrepair and we agreed with the Council that it could not be erected until the condition of the building was improved.

Meanwhile the owners have been trying to sell it since early 2018. We have been following this process. The sale eventually fell through. Three weeks ago, I heard from the estate agents that a second sale was under way and that they were more hopeful that it would go through this time.

We will continue to follow this and if it successful we shall contact the new owners urgently to get the façade dealt with.
